

Tiamat, Will They Come

Will they come
And alight the skies anew?
The night is young
And so are you

Is it true what they say
Behind this walls?
Tonight
We'll see for real

Do these mornings ever come?
Will we ever see this days again?
And can we speed it up again
And watch it really slow?
Can we run it backwards
To the place where it begins?
Do this moment ever come?

Will they come?

The flower rots
And the laughter disappears
Now, the time goes on
But it's always on our side

Don't leave me alone
In this corridors of gloom
Don't leave me alone
Tonight

Do these mornings ever come?
Will we ever see this days again?
And can we speed it up again
And watch it really slow?
Can we run it backwards?
Maybe... just one more time?...

Just to see what you did
I want to see what you did
Are you afraid to show me what you did?

And do these mornings ever come?
Do these mornings ever come?

Will they come?
