

Tiefighter, The Resignation

Count me out of those things you do
Im tired of doing the same old things and talking about everything but me each night
I know Im not fair game until Im gone
But how the fuck is that alright?
You love to dish it out but cringe to take it in Theres gotta be something more
Something bigger than your ego out there
Youre talking shit because I want something better for myself
Theres gotta be something more
Something bigger then your ego out there
Think we forgot? Think again
I wont let this go
I dont care how old this gets
Ill keep screaming these same words youve heard a million times before
I know the words that I sing wont change a fucking thing
But at least I can say I tried
Theres gotta be something more
Something bigger than your ego out there
Youre talking shit because I want something better for myself
Theres gotta be something more
Something bigger then your ego out there
Think we forgot? Think again
I wont let this go
Think about the things you say
Because now youre way out the line
Weve got one life so lets make it count
Leave the past behind
Think twice about decisions you make
Cause you can only fuck up so many times
Weve got one life so lets make it count
Leave the past behind
Well run like hell and we wont look behind
Because it can only hold us down
Weve got one life so lets make it count
Leave the past behind