

Tilt, Libel

I am listening for a voice
It began a little while ago
And then it stopped again
Thought I recognized it
Hear that there it goes right now
Like a whisper I'm imagining
But now it's screaming
Inside my head

Can you hear it?
Can you hear it?
Ignorance personified
Can you hear it?
Can you hear it?

You try to bite your words
But they keep forming
In your mouth
And they are libelous
Hottly popping out
I am beyond the cutting range
Of your dull mind
And jagged tongue
And this you cannot stand
You cannot stand

Can you hear it?
Can you hear it?
Ignorance personified
Can you hear it?
Can you hear it now?
You better listen to yourself
Can you hear it?
Can you hear it now?

Follow me all the way home
But you haven't got the guts
To come in too close
Follow me all the way home
You just want the chance to show
How little you really know
