Tin Machine, Heaven's In Here

Baby I dream between the blade and the tongue Of the rose on your cheek the wounded and dumb We stumble and fall we stumble and fall Skin on skin but there's heaven in...

Heaven's in here Heaven's in here Among the twilight and stars Like a rocket to Mars Heaven in here

The first and the last are telling it all Telling you loud but selling it small I'm taking a swing at this shadow of mine Crucifix hangs an' my heart's in my mouth But it's here

Heaven's in here Heaven's in here Among the twilight and stars Like a rocket to mars Heaven in here

Heaven in one sigh Heaven in two eyes

Heaven lies between your marbled thighs
The rustle of your falling gown
We stumble and fall like tragedy falls
We stumble and twirl there's heaven in here
We stumble and fall uncertain we fall
Flesh on flesh but there's heaven in...
Heaven's in here

Heaven's in here Heaven's in here Among the twilight and stars Like a rocket to Mars Heaven in here

You'll dance to my tongue we'll dance on the sun We're the twilight and stars There's heaven in here