

Tina Arena, God Only Knows

I took a ride that took me out of nowhere
Life is an open door
I took a chance on you when it was unclear
What we were hoping for
This world can be also cruel
But I've paid my dues

God only knows what you do to me
Where we will be tomorrow
If you should stay please promise me nothing cause God only knows

I am just a traveller on a journey
No destination sign
Even when you're on the road to nowhere
Take one step at a time cause life can be also cruel
That's yesterday's news
I can say it

God only knows what you do to me
Where we will be tomorrow
If you should stay please promise me nothing
Yeah God only cares when you're through
To the bone, can you feel the sorrow
If you should go please promise me nothing cause I'm alive and I'm here
And I don't want to fear
There are mountains to climb
And this is my time
I can say it

God only knows what you do to me
Where we will be tomorrow
If you should go please ask me for nothing Yeah God only deals to the ones that he knows have the strength to handle cause God always throws
A line to the wanderer
Who God only knows
Yes God only knows
Woah
