

To-Mera, Obscure Oblivion

Loving arms crushed me softly
As she whispered tears into the air
Happy hours drowned cruelly
Into days of endless despair
Laughter died a painful death there
Filled the air with deadly sparks
Soft screaming voice chased me away
Caressed my wounds as she tore me apart
Run away, run away, run away
From the pain inside and scream
Run away, run away, run away
From the eyes that beg you to stay
From the eyes that beg you to stay away
To find your way alone
Somewhere from the inside
Blurry scenes cut sharp wounds into my heart
I'm lost in my obscure oblivion
Run away, run away, run away
From the pain inside and scream
Run away, run away, run away
From the eyes that beg you to stay
From the eyes that beg you to stay away
To find your way alone
Warmed up by cold hands - frozen inside
I listened to rhymes
Turn into distant, old sounds
Echoing, shouting, fading inside