

Toby Keith, Can't Go Back

Can't go back, can't go home
Though you've been told
Anything goes when everything's gone
You risk it all
And hope you might find
Something inside, that something inside
Will ease your trouble mind

I swore I'd never do this anymore
It's always the heartache behind each door
When you try to fix a life that's shattered as mine
There's always a few little pieces you can't find

I swore I'd never do this anymore
It's always the heartache behind each door
When you try to fix a life that's shattered as mine
There's always a few little pieces you can't find
There's always a few little pieces you can't find
