

Tom Proeski, Life (Eurovision 2002)

I saw my ID and it wasn't me
It was someone else's identity
Why do I need to prove myself
And who is the judge of my sanity
Roaming through my old emotions
I find new feelings of misery
I bet with my soul to get back the truth
Where I would face reality
Walking around with some thoughts on my mind
I search for a place where I'll be free
From all that I said and all that's been done
It'll be hard to find it inside of me
I know that I've gotta try
No one can see me cry
I can't take it anymore
I must find a way to let myself go
Life is a book and you gotta read it
Life is a story and you gotta tell it
Life is a song and you gotta sing it
You got to know how to live it