

Tom Verlaine, Prayer

(Verlaine)

Well, I love to watch you
Move from night to day,
You're a rainbow, Darling, a special kind
That never fades.
Well I could picture this and
I could picture that,
But what I see before me Darling,
No kind of camera will ever catch.

All the love I gather,
All the love you gather,
All the love we gather in our hearts.
All the love I gather,
All the love you gather,
All the love we gather in our hearts.

There are brighter shades
And much deeper hues,
And they're in the light
Of the sweetest honeymoon

All the love I gather,
All the love you gather,
All the love we gather in our hearts.
All the love I gather,
All the love you gather,
All the love we gather in our hearts.

Seems to me it could be
Much more than what it should be
By any old opinion I have of you,
Or any old design
That pops up in the mind,
There's always so much more And it's so new.

All the love I gather,
All the love you gather,
All the love we gather in our hearts.
All the love I gather,
All the love you gather,
All the love we gather in our hearts.
