Tony Vincent, Beyond All Words

Sometimes hiding in my soul fear and pain too deep to ever know i ran from what i did not understand until your mercy took control

I was running through a maze of questions when the answer came to me beyond all words
now i'm trembling in your presence broken by a love that moves
beyond all words

So afraid to feel your touch fearing love would cost me far too much all it cost me was my foolish pride when i finally opened up inside

I can't explain this feeling indescribable
beyond all words
you alone offered hope and healing peace and comfort comes
beyond all words
resting in a perfect stillness
indescribable
beyond all words

If i had one wish to choose here is everything i wish to do just to lose myself inside your love just to find myself in you

(chorus)

From the album... 'Tony Vincent'.