

Training For Utopia, A Good Feeling

This is only a test and i'm left empty again no choice words to save my already stolen carcass so weak i carve it in these walls in this flesh the scars remind me of how i'm weak and how i'm but when the time is right i sit back and i laugh and i walk away as it drowns good-bye my mistake never to be visited again