Travis, Ring Out The Bell

I'm so lonely God won't know me I can hardly get up I sold my halo back in April Now I can't hold my head up

So ring out the bell I'll fly where there's someone to tell My shoulders are colder since I fell

Someone see me feel me breathing Someone get me home soon If I see sunrise and screw up my eyes I don't feel so lonesome

So ring out the bell I'll fly where there's someone to tell My shoulders are colder since I fell I'm doing fine, I'm getting by Tell me what I should do God knows why I'm watching the sky Getting so blue

One fine morning without warning I'll go through the blue sky Until I do I'll wait for you So I can get this right

So ring out the bell I'll fly where there's someone to tell My shoulders are colder since I fell

So ring out the bell I'll fly where there's someone to tell My shoulders are colder since I fell
