

Travis Tritt, Out Of Control Raging Fire

(Kostas/Melba Montgomery)

Today an old heartache came calling
An old flame I thought died out like some falling star
Instead it's rekindling some embers
That may start an out of control ragin' fire

That look in your eyes brings bad memories
You still have that same smile that once won my heart
The bittersweet feelings still linger
That once fueled me out of control ragin' fire

That out of control ragin' fire
Pain has no memory when you burn with desire
The flames grow higher and higher
Till we've reached an out of control ragin' fire

Inside the passion is burning
It's too late to stop what we've started tonight
How can we resist this temptation
To start an out of control ragin' fire

That out of control ragin' fire
Pain has no memory when you burn with desire
The flames grow higher and higher
Till we've reached an out of control ragin' fire
Yes we've reached an out of control ragin' fire