

Trax, Celebration

Absently walking down a crowded street
Seeing that face reflected in the window glass
Was it really me? I dont know
That day, missing a lovers warmth
*It never works the way you thought, the way you tried
You know youve made a mistake, but cant change it
Right now were in a carnival, right now its a carnival
Even if I chase you by the lights of your car
Nothing changes, anymore
I thought I had healed
But these old wounds are waking me up again
After waking from my dreams I wander
But I always return to that place
When firecrackers fall in the black night
Im falling too, Im falling too
*Repeat
You should know by now Dont come near me
Distance yourself because Im dangerous
Repeat
