

Trevor Morgan, Looking To You

Forty days and forty nights
Not a path so blue in sight
Yet all a long You had him right where he belonged

Hid beyond the rainbows end
The rains come every now and then
And I will trust You even when they go on and on

Cause I dont need to know why

I'm looking to You
I look to You every day
I'm looking to You
You are the life, the truth, the way

So many images flashing by
Just long enough to catch my eye
And fill my head with these little lies on parade

Only You can give to me
Ears to hear and eyes to see
The only truth that can set me free from disarray

And I see all that I long to be

Well I'm looking to You
I look to You everyday
I'm looking to You
You are the life, the truth, the way

Everywhere I go, no matter what I'm goin through Everything I say and everything I do
I'm looking to You

I'm looking to You
I look to You everyday
I'm looking to You
You are the life, the truth, that way

I look to You everyday
I'm looking to You
You are the life, the truth, the way
