

Triinu Kivilaan, Broken heart

Sittin here and feeling abandoned
Trying hard to hide my tears away
I switched the light off and turn the key forever
When everything seemed to be perfect
I thought it would last a while
But life changes, the story changes for you and me

REFREN:

You should have kept me awake and warm
Baby, this shouldnt come to this end at all
But dreams are over, nights will get colder
You should have kept me awake warm
Now Im walking down the street of wisdom
Never thought that our world could ever fall apart
You built the border and made the fences growing
I feel the lack of my defense
How open minded a girl can be
Now youre guilty, forever guilty of leaving me