

Triptykon, Altar of Deceit

Beseech in boundless greed
From barren womb you wrenched my seed
I shall never see my children smile
You have blinded me
I shall never see the truth you conceal
I shall never see your altar of deceit
Entwine, self-contrived sun
You drain my blood, this life long gone