

Trisha Yearwood, Love Will Always Win

Hold on
Like there's no tomorrow
There can be no sorrow
Right here where we stand
Living
Only for this moment
All we've ever wanted
Is right here in our hands
And some will say
That we're sure to fall
Try and build their walls
Between us

No way over it
No way around it
If we want it
We have to go through it
Fight for love
And the world tries to break us down
But the world will bend
And the fight will end
Love will always win

Hold on
Till we see tomorrow
There is time to borrow
Till we own our own
Walk on
And our hearts will lead us
But our hearts will need us
To be steady and strong
So we can stand
And face the fire
Burning higher and higher

No way over it
No way around it
If we want it
We have to go through it
Fight for love
And the world tries to break us down
But the world will bend
And the fight will end
Love will always win

Oh
We know that a rainbow waits
Beyond dark skies

No way over it
No way around it
If we want it
We have to go through it
Fight for love
And the world tries to break us down
And the fight will end
And the world will bend
And the fight will end
Love will always win
