

TRUSTcompany, Slipping Away

you say hold on
but I feel like I'm slipping away
And you say hold on but it feels like I'm slipping away

I won't let you down
And what you said to me is echoing the sound of what would never be

I'm standing here alone
the memories remain
The same familiar home
But nothing looks the same And I'm standing here alone can't tell if I'm awake
Reality is gone
In a dream I can't escape

you say hold on
And you say hold on
but I feel like I'm slipping away

I'm getting through it now I guess it's plain to see that everything I am is not everything you need

I'm standing here alone
can't tell if I'm awake
Reality is gone
In the dream I will escape

you say hold on
And you say hold on

and it feels like I'm slipping away

Reality is gone
In a dream I can't escape
and I feel like I'm slipping away
