

Twice Born, Deceiver

All you false prophets, shut your mouths
So many things are being told to my field now
All you false prophets, shut your mouths
So hard for me to even reach a soul now.

You make this world a crazy place to find what is real
You sound so convincing when you say just what you feel
You can't accept the truth yourself, so you preach your own beliefs
Thoughts based on your own comfort, is only what you preach
Deceiving the souls of many
You are playing with their lives
Because they find that your teachings make sense
But they are all just selfish lies.

My message of Truth is just another on the list now
So many things being told to my field now
True salvation is buried in all the lies now
The face of God is hidden from this world now.

Don't put your words in God's mouth
All you false prophets, shut your mouths!