

Twice Born, Exposed

Come this way, it'll be okay
We'll pass a good time, don't be afraid
But what I won't say (is in the end that you'll be mine).

Take my hand, don't worry about a thing
But what you don't know is I've got you in my boxing ring
Come this way come and play all you want right in your face
It's all yours, just sign my contract
It's what life's about, I won't stab you in the back.

Your soul is mine
You'll never be ashamed, you'll never wonder why
Until you find all I ever said was all made of lies.

The devil's knocking at my door, but I won't let him in
He's trying to tell me he'll always forever be my friend
He wants to kill, steal my joy, my soul destroy
He thinks he will, but he never will take out this boy
'Cause Jesus Christ is our Lord.

I guess you thought you had me, but the truth is you don't own me
Through Christ Jesus I'll always have the victory
Through Christ I'll always have the victory.