Twisted Sister, Run For Your Life

He wakes up in the mornin' and he looks into the glass His face it reminds him of the long nights that have passed And he wonders if she wonders that he wonders about her Well darlin', you'd better run for your life

Girl you played with my head You destroyed my mind Now I'd be better off dead You'd better run for your life

Through abused intentions You misused my trust Now's the time for redemption You'd better run for your life

Solo - Eddie

Girl, my life's in ruins
Pay 'The Tab of Pain'
Now I'm after you and
You'd better run for your life
You'd better run for your life
You'd better run for your life