Tyrant of Death, Ethereal

The purest form of hate They raise the reign of hell I'm striding through the realm of death

Feasting upon our souls I feel them swarming me Their presence shakes the soil Underneath my feet and bones

The swarm devours the rotting flesh Nothing can stop this awakening

...This awakening

Breaching the void when I collapse, The flow of vengeance seeks my name

They will cleanse the earth They will cleanse the fucking earth

I pray the lord every day for forgiveness The one, who can bring my hate to a close This flame will be the last of salvation... The wind has died out, the blood will flow again Searching to find the way

Blistering silence Limping down the corridors, With her blood soaked blade The frost builds before me, Have I seen the shadow of God?

One, final, day

All of who will suffer by the shackles of restrain, I seek to find the answer, I shall mend the hate of ethereal The sickness seething within my soul

I grasp my own demise
I feel them changing me
I know my own reprise
I cease the gears of mankind
I release my hate
...And I seek the redemptioning [sic] of the sun

They are the hands that bear the part of strength They weigh the scale of mind and our bleeding lungs Their way of torture and my fucking madness Will be forgotten from the wrath

With the singing from their glorious fields She will hear the calls Burned down and devoured

My left hand
My right fist
Pondering annihilation
Destructive malformation
Breaking down the servants
My lust for blood never ends
I see, I hear
The devils calling me

Now reigning from the depths Walking inside Inside my fire

Ethereal The name is written in blood Ethereal Her screams destroy the earth

I know my way around the dead to finally reanalyze all of my sins...