

Tyrone Wells, I Will Remember You

I remember the cold December
I remember the star crosses sky
I remember how the morning came up singing,
and it found two dreamers hangin on to the night..

I remember walkin in the ocean
I remember that look in your eyes
I remember the way you stood beside me,
when the waves were trying to take you with the tide.

I will remember you..and hold on tight through the years
to each moment when we were together....and the time you were here..

I remember night in the canyon
I remember when the rain came down..
I remember the light from the candle that was burning for a long long time..

I will remember you..and hold on tight through the years
to each moment when we were together....and the time you were here..

Morning sun, midnight chills, sometimes you are with me still.
All the memories bring you back... to me..

I will remember you..and hold on tight through the years
to each moment when we were together....and the time you were here.
and the time you were here...
