

Under Black Clouds, The Double Headstone

So flee this place oh wanderer as soon as you have read this words

Never were this brothers wich are bruined here meant to live so soon the earth the light of nature and of life of stones and water, night and sun.

Alone, they failed to open their veins for all the beauty and decay.
Loosing themselves instead within the veils of darkness and despair.

The older one feared every step man have to do in life afraid to hurt himself or other ones preferred to fall in agony and apathy instead.

His tween got more and more possessed by dark and deadly creatures once swallowed breeding and eating from inside thus he shut all his gates to life.

Him - them , the guardians of the gatehouse to protect the outside from their inner lives and so they lie here beneath the green geass but never found their peace.

Their unrest grows and so their inner monsters intil they are strong enough to reach earth's surface to break through the ground and become alive as nightmares in your daydreams.