

Unearth, Lie To Purify

consumed by self loving pain self loathing bliss
it eats away
burns you like a cancer
the feeling's inside
mask your size
with your will now you fall
from heart and soul
break
years of frustration
all to plain to see
ease into war
invade with foul fingers lie to purify
crushing what's not you they say some are born
with a blackened heart
fell to the curse of a bastard life cursed with a bastard life your lust to celebrate your name will cause your fall
can't change
years of frustration
all have yearned to see the pedestal crumble
ignored acts of aggression falsify to slave
avoiding all that's true
you stand up
then you fall
heartless souless appetite you're crossing almost every line now it's time to wash away you lost your way
you crossed the line
you crossed every line