

Unhinged, Face The World

you can take it all for granted tell me i throw my life away tell me to be just like you as you drag me down every day i've watched you fight among yourselves what the hell am i supposed to learn? all yer speeches on respect you think it's taken and not earned things are better now, now i'm on my own i'll follow what i feel is right, tho the time, i'm wrong far too late to turn back now, i'll face the world alone i'll get by from day 2 day, i've got some really great friends there they don't expect perfection from me, or complain about my hair (repeat chorus)
..say what you want about me, i'll face the world on my own
