

Union 13, The Game (We All Must Play)

Just be conscious of the facts
Be aware, because we are all affected Times have changed, everyone's scared We've been made to feel decrepit, weak, poor, tired, broken
Time to bring them down
No more unwilling contestants

I see the signs are all there And the pawns in this game, seem slightly aware of the role they must play through this global affair Are we living at the peak of mankind's best effort?
And the truth lies in the hands of the men who have everything but, with nothing to lose with nothing to lose They're not part of the game that we play everyday

The revolving door of life there's too many of us to compromise We're losing our sense as they capitalize on the game that they made, we all have to play
The game that they made, we don't have to play

Positions will shift and change Control comes through misconception Capable of so much more when we face the right direction
Time to set a common goal Can we connect for communion?

Redefine our cosmic role Should we come to a resolution?
