

Unleashed Power, Calendar

Notice every day go by, knowing what you didn't try.
Numbers flashing in your head,
worry replaced it instead.

Looking across the water,
pondering what's waiting there.
Blurry vision can't tell though,
don't know, but can't be aware.

The blend between the now and then,
won't comfort the next day.
Anticipation will stay.
The glory of a moment,
like steam will evaporate.
Life's flame will suffocate.

The friends of past are long gone.
The unknown mist won't clear.
Always waiting for some peace.
Sails are up and it can't steer.

The blend between the now and then,
won't comfort the next day.
Anticipation will stay.
The glory of a moment,
like steam will evaporate.
Life's flame will suffocate.

The pages flip by the wind,
every day turns into grey.
Always searching for the truth,
anticipation will stay.

The blend between the now and then,
won't comfort the next day.
Anticipation will stay.
The glory of a moment,
like steam will evaporate.
life's flame will suffocate.

Waste time on speculation, come to life's invitation.
Excusing your life away,
boredom and despair will stay.
Remember vitality,
Now there's insecurity.
The dreams function as escape,
Out of touch and can't relate.