Utopia, I Just Want To Touch You

There's a flame in the back of my mind
And it's burning for you all the time
'Cause I just want to touch you
Do you want to touch me too?
Now I know that you've heard this before
But with me it could mean something more
And I just want to touch you
Do you want to touch me too?
Everybody says we're too young
But I know all the things that they just can't see
I just want to get inside you
If you'll give just a minute to me (ooooh).
So I've said everything that I can
And I'm hoping that you'll understand
That I just want to touch you
And you want to touch me too.