

Valery Gore, Old winter town

Falling peace on the brow of a Young man now The lake froze over the ice went cracking and Covered