

Van Morrison, Grits Ain't Groceries

If I don't love you baby, grits ain't groceries,
eggs ain't poultry,
and Mona Lisa was a man.

All around the world
I'd rather be a fly and light on my baby's head, I'll stay with that woman 'til I die.
A toothpick in my hand, I dig a 10-foot ditch and ride through the jungle fightin' lions with a switch, because ya' know I love ya' baby,
well, you know I love you baby, and if I don't love you baby,
grits ain't groceries,
eggs ain't poultry,
and Mona Lisa must-a been a man.

Well, it's all around the world and I got blisters on my feet a-tryin' to find my baby, a-bring her back to me.
If you see my baby,
I know she'll be convinced.
If it don't send her back to me, it just don't make no sense,
because ya' know I love ya' baby,
well, you know I love you baby.
If I don't love you baby, grits ain't groceries and eggs ain't poultry, and Mona Lisa must-a been a man.

Well,
all around the world
I never will forget
I lost all my money, my woman and my pet, but I got to have you baby, I got to settle for nothin' less, give up all my good time for the sake of happiness, because ya' know I love ya' baby,
you know,
you know I love you baby.
If I don't love you baby,
grits ain't groceries,
eggs ain't poultry,
and Mona Lisa must-a been a man.

I said, if I don't love you baby,
grits ain't groceries,
eggs ain't poultry,
and Mona Lisa must-a Mona Lisa must-a been a man.

Well,
if I don't love ya' baby, if I don't love you baby,
if I don't love you baby,
grits ain't groceries,
and eggs ain't poultry,

and Mona Lisa must-a been a man.

Mona Lisa must-a been a man.