

Vanessa Carlton, Heroes & Thieves

Well disaster it strikes on a daily basis
I'm looking for wisdom in all the wrong places
But still want to laugh in disappointed faces
You can't help me
Blinded by these

Heroes and Thieves at my door
Can't seem to tell them apart anymore
Just when I've figured it out
Darlin' it's you I'm without.

Well I'm stubborn and wrong
But at least I know it
Keep moving along until I can get through this
But maybe this song is the best I can do it
So I'm patiently waiting on these

Heroes and Thieves at my door
Can't seem to tell them apart anymore
Just when I've figured it out
Well darlin' it's you
Darlin' it's you oh,
Darlin' it's you I'm

Without your comforting logic
Like these days are the ones I'll miss
And I seek a solitude that I can't find without you
Ah ah, ah
La da da

Well it seems like I'm getting closer some how
A flicker of peace that I've finally found
Thank you for believing in me now
Cause I do need it

Well give me a year or two
And I'll mend my ways and see these mistakes
When I see the truth
Well darlin' trust me
When I can't see
I'll be coming back; I'll be coming back to you

These heroes and thieves at my door
Can't seem to tell them apart anymore
Just when I've figured it out
Darlin' it's you
Darlin' it's you
Well, darling it's you I'm without
Ah, ah, ah.
