Vangelis, Losing Sleep

Losing sleep In a waking dream

A recurring face I see Comes to pass my way

Still, my heart, Will you please be still, my heart In this world of change You keep turning me round again

(interlude)

In my mind Could it be that I'm just a fool for love

Is blind to danger

Is this faith, Then why should i Hesitate when love would dance with a stranger?

(interlude)

Shout it loud from the rooftop high Let it burn inside, And try only to fade and die

If I knew all there was to learn, Every twist and turn, Why do I still try
