Ved Buens Ende..., You That May Wither

A distant cry... From whom I perished for? No... You are born... ...the winterburden

I bled your tears once. If only I could wither, You, That May Wither

A distant cry... From what I perished for? No... It was born... The winterburden. I bled its tears once... Oh, if only it could wither, wither in the absence of your thoughts.

So I cry...

I cry not only for my spirit in its living shell. But for the ones who used the lust for me.