

Velvet Belly, City

He went outside to feel the rain
To listen to the murmuring of the city
To come to life again

He had been dreaming all day
Staring at the ceiling
All day

He had been searching for memories
Trying to recall who he had been
A long time ago

He had been dreaming all day
Staring at the ceiling
All day