

Velvet Chain, Beyond Time

J. stacy / b. reardon

Well you try to see beyond time... to face the questions you have now

You want to see what's in the grand design... well it's a crime to see that now

We can never let you down, if you're out of town... the world would not admit you... you have run a

Well you packed all your clothes... you're ready for the rendezvous... you've been told... is due...

And you'll pay the price... by living out your life half-way... that's not much... to you

So you're gonna see beyond time... gonna fly up off the ground... you're gonna understand the ma

Well you freed all those souls... forever haunting you, and they broke the mold... on you... and you

Well it all comes around... you'll have your destination anyway... it's not up and it's not down... it's ju
