

Venus, Asia

I'll change my name, my language and my brain
I'll change my face, my body and my race
I'll crawl at your feet and turn into a freak
I'll lick your legs, crawl back up to your sex

But don't throw me away
But don't throw me away

I'll give you my soul and million other gifts
I'll cling but I'll fall, I know you'll make me sick
I'll be your dog when you walk, I'll shut up when you talk
And I'll be your slave if you want me to stay
The shadow of your grave, even silence in a cave

But don't throw me away
But don't throw me away

You'll think of me, feel as guilty as I've been I'll haunt your nights and finally you'll cry
You'll call my name, and I'll be gone away
You'll call my name, and I'll be gone away