

Vert, Burning Peace

Burning peace like wilted flowers blowing winds turn the hours DEATH by BREATH you smell the flames smoke dark shadows pass over It's all burning away away peace it falls away away today love turns to lust in your eyes you fall into your grave to block away God's skys a punished soul still held to its lies dies burning burning peace away away today