

Villains To The Masses Heroes To The Holy, Day

Open your eyes, if you want to
But if you don't I can't blame you

It's in the air you breathe, slowly removing you from the fold
Our world is slowly drowning and nothing I'm preaching is new Cry for our salvation because civilization is gone
You'll never see your children alive again, God bless this dawn

It's not safe to go outside anymore / Take your chances when you step into the light

You can turn to your TV to absorb the eye-candy
As the radio radiation starts a burn cycle inside
You can have yourself a coke, slightly chilled but packed with dope
Watch the nail dissolve, it's never the same for you again

It's not safe to go outside anymore / Take your chances when you step into the light

Bridge

It's not safe to go outside anymore / Take your chances when you step into the light