Virginia Coalition, This Is Him (Hurricane Song)

Caught the sound of a distant word On the pale white wings of a frigate bird Had to listen, couldn't save it all for later It was the salt in the ocean and the stars on the equator Yeah, yeah, yeah Yeah, yeah

If it's the salt in the ocean, it's the sugar cane It's all of that, I knew I loved you before I knew your name I get the notion it's a summer rain It seems like everything's burning in that sugar cane

So this is me I'll be no one else Think that I believe that I was wrong, it's all gone Well that's you, you got yourself Believe me when I tell you There's nothing wrong There's nothing wrong with the sound you been needing all along

Stomped her feet and knocked the paint off the wall Righteous gospel choir in a meeting hall You had to listen so you know they let us in Hurricane island through all that hurricane wind Yeah, yeah, yeah

They were sayin' "Why don't you stay with the natives? Sunburned and restless they'll take you in They're as warm as a sunlight that's rolling in On hurricane island through all that hurricane wind."

So this is me I'll be no one else Think that I believe that I was wrong, it's all gone Well that's you, you got yourself Believe me when I tell you There's nothing wrong There's nothing wrong with the sound you been needing all along

Stowed away on a ship in the spring, slept all night on a rope thin They cut a pathway through the Saragasso Sea It was everything and nothing It was everything to me

Here we go...
