Virgo, Baby Doll

It seems to me that you never had A place to lay your soul It seems to me when you raise your head I see these eyes of stone

What can I do?

Could you tell what you really think? Could you light this fire? Do you need my helping hand? Do you believe in desire?

You find a way to push me down You bend my nerves, To be around with you

Cant' you see - I'm not your baby doll Cant' you see - I'm not your baby doll

Homeward bound to anywhere Nothing ever lasts You take your place, cause you have nowhere To go without a task

You find a way to push me down You bend my nerves, To be around with you

Cant' you see - I'm not your baby doll Cant' you see - I'm not your baby doll
