Virus, Battles

Choices that we make
And paths that we choose
Define just what we are
The battles that we won
And the battles we've fought so far
These will remember
Whether they are memories or scars
Cause no matter what we've won,
And no matter what we've lost
It' won't change what we are

Cause even through the worst times
Even through the bad times
We survived the battles that we fought
And it's fked up thing but it isn't everything
We survived the battles that we fought

All the fights all the losses all the wins
It don't really matter
All the highs and all the lows, all the shit
It don't fking matter
Just the fact that we fight through thick and thin
Is what really matters
Just the fact that we fight and don't give in
Is what fking matters

Cause even through the worst times
Even through the bad times
We survived the battles that we fought
And it's fked up thing but it isn't everything
We survived the battles that we fought

Choices that we make
And paths that we choose
Define just what we are
The battles that we won
And the battles we've fought so far
These will remember
Whether they are memories or scars
Cause no matter what we've won,
And no matter what we've lost
It' won't change what we are

Cause even through the worst times
Even through the bad times
We survived the battles that we fought
And it's fked up thing but it isn't everything
We survived the battles that we fought
