Von Bondies, C'mon C'mon

On another day c'mon c'mon With these ropes I tied can we do no wrong Now we grieve cause now is gone Things were good when we were young

With my teeth locked down I can see the blood Of a thousand men who have come and gone Now we grieve cause now is gone Things were good when we were young

Is it safe to say? c'mon c'mon Was it right to leave? c'mon c'mon Will I ever learn? c'mon c'mon c'mon c'mon c'mon

As I make my way c'mon c'mon These better nights that seem too long Now we grieve cause now is gone Things were good when we were young

With my teeth locked down I can see the blood Of a thousand men who have come and gone Now we grieve cause now is gone Things were good when we were young

Is it safe to say? c'mon c'mon Was it right to leave? c'mon c'mon Will I never learn? c'mon c'mon c'mon c'mon c'mon

Is it safe to say? c'mon c'mon Was it right to leave? c'mon c'mon Will I never learn? c'mon c'mon c'mon c'mon c'mon

And know this day these deepened wounds don't heal so fast Can't hear me croon of a million lies that speak no truth Of a time gone by that now is through
