

Vonray, Inside Out

I don't believe all the things I hear
All these things I hold so dear
I won't take for granted

I'd always thought that you'd be there
Now it somehow seems unfair
You're asking me to take it

And do you see the danger?
Its creeping up beside...

Because you're turning me inside out
You're breaking all these promises we made
Maybe time will make it right

Our picture taken yesterday
Slowly starts to fade away
There's got to be an answer

There's no use being afraid to see
What my life was meant to be
And take me so much higher

And do you see the danger?
It's creeping up behind...

Because you're turning me inside out
You keep breaking all these promises we made
Maybe time will make it right
Because you're turning me inside out
It's taking all my strength and will to stay
Maybe time will make it right

And do you feel the danger?
It's creeping up beside...

Because you're turning me inside out
You're breaking all these promises
Keep breaking all these promises

Because you're turning me inside out
You're breaking all these promises we made
Maybe time will make it right
Because you're turning me inside out
It's taking all my strength and will to stay
Maybe time will make it right
