

Wall Kingston, When Something Old Dies

Empty faces surrounded with hairdresses wondering 'round with hard thoughts in their minds, I wonder why can't see their lives as a big fantasy that gives a chance to see everything as we know it's all there just do anything pick up your first thought and take that adventure I'm sure you'll be much happier than if you're stuck with the idea of doing what you're expected to Everyone is a star in their movie

It can be made so boring or groovy It's about time we all realize something new bornS when something old dieS