

Waltari, Number None

I see you naked at the door of my room longing hungrily for a slide but I just can't help it, I have to leave the guys are waiting there outside but you wouldn't let me go and pushed me aside when I was about to step out you begged me to stay but I was late no chance to have another round (listen)

You better believe it, I'm not your "number none";
If you try to call me, I'm sorry I'm about not home
You can't keep me in your grip, this is what you should already know what a show we both are in, you can't let go

So, then you started to scream that I was a pig and you only an object I never felt that way why you have to play your games and protect I love you with my fullest heart
Do you still have to ask for more?
There's no reason to just act like a kid got my own deals and that's for sure

You better believe it, I'm not your "number none";
If you try to call me, I'm sorry I'm about not home
You can't keep me in your grip, this is what you should already know
what a show we both are in, you can't let go
