

Wanda Jackson, Worried Mind

You've promised me love that would never die that promise you've made was only a lie
Now after you've gone all alone I'll pine for all that I've got is a worried mind
When I was down you've just left me there I needed you so oh but you didn't care
You've found a new love and a home so fine but all that I've got is a worried mind
(You've promised me love) you've promised me love
(That would never die) that would never die
(That promise you've made) that promise you've made (was only a lie) was only a lie
Now after you've gone all alone I'll pine for all that I've got is a worried mind
(Is a worried mind)
