

Waterdeep, I Know The Plans

You talk of Hating war
But where's your own peace time
You don't love any more oh my children
you linger in your mind &quot;everyones so unkind&quot;
you forgot about the mines you laid on your land

I know the plans I have for you
I know the things I want for you to do
I know the plans I have for you
and it hurts sometimes, to see you cry

You read up on the lies and keep them in motion so clever the disguise of devotioin you say that theres no time but there you stand joking you forgot that im the one who weighs the words youve spoken

I know the plans I have for you
I know the things that I want for you to do
I know the plans I have for you
And it hurts sometimes to see you cry
