

Waylon Jennings, Just Across The Way

Just across the way a house is dark
I can hardly see
Just across the way lives a girl
Who's so in love with me
But I'm such a bitter soul
Who's memories seemed to always get their way
So I live here with my memories.
She lives there with her love just across the way
Just across the way I can see her in the window watching me
With her face rest to the pain
And her eyes look more tearstained every day
But I'm such a bitter soul
Who's memories keep standing in her way
I'm so lonely with my memories
She's lonely with her love just across the way
Just across the way
Might as well be in the heavens on a star
We're just close enough together
To see just what far apart we are
But I'm such a bitter soul
Who's memories keep standing in the way
I'm so lonely with my memories
She's lonely with her love just across the way
Just across the way just across the way...
